Serve your patients more effectively

Addiction and recovery professionals are urgently called upon to demonstrate quality and effectiveness of care. The NAATP Foundation for Recovery Science and Education (FoRSE) offers a simple process for providers to share a limited set of de-identified patient data into a centralized database through an Application Programming Interface (API). FoRSE uses this data to create confidential benchmarking reports for providers, comparing their data to aggregated data from treatment centers nationwide. This is a first-of-its kind national effort to demonstrate the value of addiction healthcare and expand the reach of recovery to more who need it.
